

A NEW BIPARTISAN PRESIDENCY MUST ASSUME POWER NOW

In a publicly broadcast speech to a LaRouchePAC Symposium in New Jersey last weekend, Lyndon LaRouche again emphasized the stark reality facing the United States and the world at large:

“We’ve come to the point that we’re now at the edge of thermonuclear war. We’ve been there since the close of the Libyan adventure. We are now still there. Recently, with the assault by the President of the United States against his Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, we came a very large step closer to thermonuclear war. What the President did, President Obama did, in his attack, his savage attack, in two successive attacks to brutalize the Secretary of State, Hillary Clinton, brought the world closer to thermonuclear war!

“And nobody in the United States has done anything about it!

“Nobody has moved to get this bum out of office! Which is essential if we want to stop thermonuclear war, and prevent it. No one has defended her, significantly, publicly. None of her colleagues have defended her against the abuse that was done to her! He should be thrown out of office for that itself! Any President who does that, to one of his officers, on that basis, and for that reason?”

Nothing short of the removal of Barack Obama, peacefully, from the office of the president can save the country and the world from the unstoppable onrush of nuclear-armed World War III. So, to this end, LaRouchePAC is affirming its commitment to running a national slate of congressional candidates, with the intention of forming the basis for a bipartisan, non-sectionalist, and pro-national policy outlook block in the U.S. Congress.

Lyndon continued: “I wouldn’t go for a Democratic-only ticket. I would go for a bipartisan ticket. Because what we need is a coordination and collaboration among the best people of our political system, in major national office. That’s what we need. I certainly would not want to have a Democratic platform of candidates, of Federal candidates, which did not include certain Republican members. Because you can’t trust the Democratic Party as a whole, but you could trust the testable qualities of leadership, of proven leadership of certain Democratic and certain Republican candidates.

“And since we need unity in this case, we should not get ourselves tied up in a struggle between the Democratic and Republican tickets at this time. That should be our policy, right now. No showdown between Republicans and Democrats, per se! What we need, is an assembly, of proven merit, in terms of potential candidates of both tickets, particularly the leaders, the best ones. And bring them together for a common cause. Let them be members of different parties, but let them be, first, citizens of the nation, and representatives of the citizenship of the nation. See the Broadcast on LaRouchePAC.com

LIVE BASEMENT WEBCASTA POLICY INITIATIVE FOR THE SURVIVAL OF THE HUMAN SPECIES*SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17 • 1PM EST / 10AM PST

The question currently facing mankind is: Will there be an immediate extinction of the human species as a result of the war and depopulation plans which have been set into motion in these recent weeks?

British policy, currently run through the insane president Barack Obama, has the U.S. on a head-on thermonuclear collision course with Russia and China, who should instead be our strategic allies. Human civilization will not survive such a conflict in any recognizable form.

In the face of this threat, it is high time for a new conception of strategic defense. No longer can we risk the threat of thermonuclear warfare. Instead, we must avoid the dire threat of total physical economic collapse of the human species by extending to the frontiers of human knowledge and human development.

The major physical frontiers for this collaboration are the Arctic, and near-Earth space, but the most important frontier of all is epistemological -- the elimination of the notion of linear time, and with it the subsidiary notions of reductionism, monetarism, and belief in the existence of absolute space and time. These frontiers will form the basis for the new humanity which can and must emerge from the present dark age, and will be the subject of discussion for the upcoming Basement Webcast.

The webcast will air at 1:00pm EST on Saturday, Decemeber 17th
