

Blatant British Plots Now Exposed at the U.N., and on Capitol Hill

August 30, 2018—The U.N. Security Council session on Syria Aug. 28 became a world platform for yet another round of lies by British spokesmen to cover for their pending staging of a false flag case chemical weapons attack in Syria, to provoke a counterattack by the U.S., France, and Britain. This carries the result of not merely busting up potential positive relations between the U.S. and Russia and among major powers, but the risk of all-out nuclear war.

The whole, blatant operation--a rerun of two other staged false flag chemical weapons incidents and counter-strikes in Syria, is out in the open now, and is a call to mobilize against the perpetrators--the core of the expiring British geopolitical system. The circles responsible are also the very same ones conducting the "Russia-Gate" coup-assault against the U.S. Presidency and nation; their subversion is more blatant each day.

At the U.N., British Ambassador Karen Pierce went berserk yesterday in response to information released this week by Russian authorities, who identified British secret services and the White Helmets as involved in stealth pre-staging of chlorine, video, and other elements of what is to be another CW incident blamed on Damascus. Pierce dismissed the Russian revelations as a "density of fake news," and denounced Russia for being "more egregious" than ever for daring to make such specific charges. She said, "We have no information about chlorine being delivered and therefore, if the Russian Ministry does have that, the most probable explanation is that it is a pre-emptive attempt to set the agenda and the narrative for an appalling attack to come." She repeated, at another point, that Russian information is "a smokescreen for a possible impending attack by the Syrian regime, once again against its own people in Idlib."

This is evil madness. It is a further call to action for citizens to put a stop to the lies and killing. With the stakes being global showdown and the risk of nuclear war, there is no room for anyone to think "someone else will do the job" and save the day. The drag factor, as always, is not more "information," but more guts.

Yesterday, Independent candidate for Congress in Texas (C.D. 9), Keshia Rogers, issued the statement, "The World Must Unite To Stop the British False Flag Chemical Attack in Syria," calling on "all citizens to act now to demand an end to the British lies. President Trump must not fall into the trap being set for him." Providing a link to her video statement from April this year, exposing the "chemical weapons hoax used in the last instance of pressuring President Trump into a reckless conflict with Russia in Syria," Rogers urges people: "Enough of the lies! Call the White House and tell him, it's a trap! Shut down the British drive for nuclear war once and for all. Call the White House switchboard..."

On the Russia-Gate track, the situation is primed for bust-up. Two points stand out about yesterday's closed-door joint Congressional Committee hearing, which took testimony from Bruce Ohr, the senior Justice Department official who illicitly, directly collaborated with British intelligence operative Christopher Steele against the President. First, it is reported (by the usually competent investigative journalist John Solomon) that the Congressmen were informed that Special Counsel Robert Mueller conspicuously has never questioned Ohr, nor his co-conspirator wife, Nellie! Second, Rep. John Ratcliffe (R-Texas) is now strenuously pointing out that the next step from yesterday's on-record Bruce Ohr testimony, is for it to go to Utah U.S. Attorney John Huber, who is collaborating with DOJ Inspector General Michael Horowitz in investigating DOJ and FBI surveillance abuse. Ratcliffe, himself, is a former Federal prosecutor and law professor. The message from yesterday's hearing is clear: the law enforcers became the lawbreakers. Jail them!

In dramatic contrast to this dangerous mess, the momentum is building for grand results from the upcoming Forum for China-Africa Cooperation (FOCAC.) Each day, many African heads of state are arriving in Beijing, for activities in advance of the Sept. 3-4 formal sessions. Then, only two weeks afterwards, the U.N. General Assembly will convene in Manhattan, with dozens of world leaders who will now be actively part of a new world outlook of development. The Chinese Ambassador to FOCAC Affairs, Zhou Yuxiao, said this week that a key aspect to watch, is the combined impact of the Belt and Road Initiative, along with the U.N. Agenda2030, and Africa2063 (the 50-year continental development plan announced in 2013). Zhou spoke of the significance of the outcome of the FOCAC gathering as likened to a "twin-engined" driver: the BRI and FOCAC. The shared future for humanity looks bright.
