

A Phase Change is Shaking the World — Now is the LaRouche Time

October 1 marks the 70th anniversary of the founding of the People's Republic of China. Beijing was the scene of an extraordinary celebration, with over a million people on hand to honor the the most spectacular transformation of a nation in history. Simple statistics show the transformation — between 1949 and today, life expectancy rose from 35 to 77, infant mortality fell from nearly 250 per thousand — a quarter of all births — to less than 10, and illiteracy fell from 80% to less than 1%, in all but the elderly.

And yet the western establishment ignores this astonishing achievement to broadcast far and wide the violent color revolution they have financed and set in motion in Hong Kong.

Today the mobs set fires, shut down and defaced multiple subway stations and government buildings, threw Molotov cocktails at police, and finally "succeeded" in getting the "bloody shirt" they desired, when a masked youth swinging an iron pipe at a policeman was shot, and is in critical condition at this writing.

The intent is regime change in Beijing, peddling the lie of an inhuman dictatorship oppressing its people.

Americans falling for this line must reflect on the fact that the same people, from both the neocon "right" and the neoliberal "left," who are running this regime change operation against China, under the false cry of "democracy," are the exact same people running the regime change operation against the United States, frantically trying to get President Trump removed from office before the impending financial collapse hits the western financial system. Both operations are run from London. The liberal media who peddle the lies behind the impeachment of President Trump today openly praised the war-mongering John Bolton for his attack on Trump, for not starting a war against North Korea, rather than negotiating a peaceful denuclearization.

Strange bedfellows, indeed, but no surprise to those who understand the British Empire's gang-countergang methodology, long exposed in the pages of EIR.

The American people smell this rat. There is a phase change sweeping through the American psyche, which the LaRouche organizers are recognizing and mobilizing across the country. The impeachment process is a panicked effort to prevent Trump and his Attorney General William Barr from exposing the treasonous coup attempt run by the Obama Administration and its corrupt intelligence teams, directed by Christopher Steele and his superiors in Great Britain's MI6 and GCHQ. On Monday night, Sen.

Lindsay Graham identified this British enemy — "If you are worried about foreign people being involved in our election,"

Graham said, "you ought to be worried about Christopher Steele being hired by the Democratic Party."

Neither will the American people drink the Kool Aid being offered by the pathetic Greta Thunberg and her eco-fascist sponsors. What they may not understand as well, is that this climate hysteria is run by the City of London and their Wall Street assets. Today, the BIS, the "central bank of central banks," set up a "green bond fund initiative" to facilitate the "Greening of the Financial System," set in motion under the direction of Bank of England chief Mark Carney. The basis for "risk management" under this monstrosity is not the viability of industrial or agricultural projects, but how much CO2 will be generated by the investment. In other words, investments in the virtually every modern industrial or agricultural project are to be so penalized as to cut them off entirely.

Trump is committed to international cooperation in the Moon-Mars Mission. Like China, Russia, India, and most of the developing nations, he has no intention of committing economic suicide by slowing down fossil fuel development. This week, he sent the head of the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy to China, where the two nations agreed to close cooperation in fighting the fentanyl crisis and other drug trafficking. This kind of international cooperation, based on real science, real progress, and the real physical and mental health of the population is, in fact, the means to defeat the genocidal plans of the British Empire. The Empire is terrified that when the bubble bursts, which is imminent, Trump will adopt the full LaRouche program, to restore the Hamiltonian system and unite the world in the spirit of the New Silk Road. We must make certain that their fears are fulfilled.
